

GROWING CULTURE

Public roundtable on the Creative and Culinary Arts

with

Michelle Darmody

Rebecca Harte

JP McMahon

Claire Nash

Rory O'Connell

GLUCKSMAN

GROWING CULTURE

Public roundtable on the Creative and Culinary Arts

10:30 - 1pm, Gallery 2

Saturday 25 February

The Glucksman is delighted to present a public roundtable that considers how art and gastronomy converge through culture, local heritage and creative approaches to marketing and tourism. Including presentations by JP McMahon, award-winning chef at Aniar Galway, author, and founder of Food on the Edge; Michelle Darmody, founder of the Cake Cafe and columnist with the Irish Examiner; Rebecca Harte of the Farmgate in Cork, whose Women of the South series created conversations on revolutionary women throughout 2016, Rory O'Connell, award-winning chef, author and Festival Director of Ballymaloe Lit Fest, and Claire Nash, of Nash 19 in Cork City which has housed a contemporary art gallery Sternview since 2014.

This event will provide an opportunity to learn from these innovative food thinkers about the exciting synergies possible between the culinary and creative arts.

ADMISSION €15 / Free for Glucksman members

Booking at 021 4901844 or at eventbrite.ie

The Glucksman

University College Cork, Ireland

+ 353 21 4901844

info@glucksman.org

www.glucksman.org